

Training Courses

Universal Credit and work 1 online module

This course provides an understanding of the effect of work on Universal Credit entitlement. The course focuses on earnings assessment if you are employed or self-employed, the impact of changes in employment and working if you have limited capability for work.

This module will cover:

- How earned income is calculated for Universal Credit
- Reporting earnings
- How different payment cycles impact on Universal Credit
- Limited capability and work
- In work conditionality

Target Group: Standard

This course is relevant to anyone who supports claimants who are working or considering starting work. Providing a detailed look into Universal Credit and work, this course provides a comprehensive introduction and also works well as a refresher.

By the end of the course you will have:

Confidence to advise clients about how work affects entitlement to Universal Credit.

Date: Thursday 8 February, 10.00 – 12.30