

Training Courses

Universal Credit – Income and Capital 1 online module

This course will provide an understanding of how different types of income are treated for Universal Credit and the rules about capital and its affect on Universal Credit. Common issues and problems will be identified, and the course will help you understand how income and capital effects a Universal Credit claim.

This module will cover:

- How income is assessed
 - What income is counted for Universal Credit
 - How different types of income are calculated
 - What income is disregarded
- Capital rules and its affect on a Universal Credit award
 - What and who's capital count
 - Disregarded capital
 - Notional capital
 - When income can be treated as capital, and when capital can be treated as income

Target group: Standard

This course is relevant to anyone who works with working age claimants in receipt of Universal Credit. The course is updated to bring in any changes as they occur. This course is for those who have some knowledge of Universal Credit.

By the end of the course you will have:

Confidence to advise clients about the assessment of income for Universal Credit and how capital affects for their Universal Credit claim.

Date: Thursday 12 September 2024, 10.00 – 12.30